

ABSTRACT

An operations management policy distributing method, an operations management policy distributing apparatus, and an operations management policy distributing program, which distributes an operations management policy suited to an inventory of a system to be managed, and also presents an index indicating their usefulness, thereby greatly reducing the work required in system operations management.